VERTICAL SLIDERS

Timeless appeal

The Tricept vertical sliding window has been developed as an authentic replacement for the traditional wooden sash window.

Unlike its predecessor, this modern PVC-u equivalent reduces maintenance to the minimum and provides a product of such eye-catching appeal it will grace any property.

A wide variety of decorative options are available, designed to the finest detail for a perfect finish. An attractive ovolo shaped bead complements the ovolo outer frame and sash profiles whilst equal sight lines offer a truly traditional appearance.

Closer inspection reveals all the attention to detail necessary to preserve the character and appearance of the original concept.

Security has been enhanced through the combination of internal glazing and the claw interlock between the two sliding sections. The window locks and sash hooks fitted to both sashes are matched in white, gold or chrome finish.

Ease of operation

One of the most pleasing features is undoubtedly the easy action of the window itself. This is accomplished by the careful selection of correctly tensioned balances. The mechanism also allows you to tilt either sash inwards to enable the outside surface to be cleaned. Permanent secure ventilation can be achieved through an optional slender trickle vent fitted into the head of the outer frame if required.

TILT & TURN

TILT & TURN

Convenient alternative

There may be occasions where larger openings are required or your window needs to open in rather than out especially for easy clean purposes. The Tricept tilt and turn window does just that and is often used on modern day apartments or similar.

Indeed openings up to 1 metre wide x 2 metres high can be achieved because the cleverly designed hardware system has a number of fixings all around the window. This mechanism can also incorporate a restrictor facility which can limit the window opening where safety is a consideration.

As an added feature before fully opening the window the hinge mechanism will hold the sash in at the bottom whilst tilting inwards at the top to give adequate ventilation without the window being fully open.

Frame Options

Tricept offer you a choice of either fully bevelled system or fully ovolo depending on your preference. This will often depend on the style and character of your home or to match interior decor.
